O R D E R:

In G.O. Ms. 2613, Development, dated 5th July 1947, the Government prescribed the procedure for the distribution of groundnut cake through village and taluk Food Committees. Consequent on the abolition of the village Food Committees the Government prescribe the following procedure for the distribution of groundnut cake.

2. The Director of Agriculture will fix the district and taluk quotas of groundnut oil cake as hitherto, and communicate it to all concerned. The Taluk Committees which are continuing to function will decide the village quotas in consultation with the Agricultural Demonstrators in charge of the taluk. The Agricultural Demonstrator will calculate the quantity of groundnut cake to be sold to each ryot in a village according to the following formula:

S equals P/ Q x R, where
P is the area under paddy in acres cultivated by a ryot
Q is the area under paddy in the village
R is the quantity of cake allotted to the village by the Taluk Committee in bags.

'S' is the quantity to be sold to the ryot in bags. In the case of paddy bonus coupon holders, the quantity of groundnut cake to be issued to them will be restricted to 'S' as worked by the above formula. But paddy bonus coupon holders will be given preference in the matter of supply of groundnut cake in accordance with the orders for the time being in force.

3. In order to enable the Agricultural Demonstrators to work out the quantity of groundnut oil cake to be sold to ryots according to the procedure prescribed in paragraph 2 above. Collectors are requested to instruct Tahsildars to furnish Agricultural Demonstrators with a list of ryots showing their name, father's name, Survey No. and area under paddy for each village. If there is delay in the preparation of list, the Agricultural Demonstrators should not delay issue of groundnut cake. They may issue cake on the basis of a certificate from the Karnam or any other satisfactory evidence produced by the ryot. When once the list referred to above is prepared for a village by the Revenue Department it should be kept uptodate by the Agricultural Department.
